

CHA Summer 2009 Report: Monday

Contributed by
Monday, 27 July 2009

We had another great day in Orlando today. Everyone here is asking why they chose to have a convention in Orlando in July! We just finished our busy day of preshows, which are receptions that usually involve some type of yummy food, put on by manufacturers to get you to spend your $ on their products before the show even begins! They are usually very fun and relaxing.

We did some major buying today from Creative Imagination, SEI and Stampin' Station. We purchased new travel papers and stickers, new custom school papers and albums, new wine papers and stickers, and more from Stampin' Station. Although we didn't take any pictures at Stampin' Station, you'll definitely want to head over to our Facebook page and check out some photos and sneak peeks of what will soon be heading to the store from SEI and Creative Imaginations. If you haven't already signed up for Facebook, be sure to go to www.facebook.com. It's a great way to stay connected with family and friends, and now your favorite businesses and celebrities too! It's quick and easy to set up. By becoming a fan of Memories on Fifth you can get frequent updates and special sales.

To make room for all of these new goodies, we will be posting specials every night based on the companies we order from each day. Here are the specials for Tuesday, July 28, 2009:

Creative Imagination's Creative Cafe: 40% OFF!

All Food, Calendar (excludes 12x12 blank calendars), Halloween, Christmas, Birthday and School items from Creative Imagination: 25% OFF!

All SEI products: 30% OFF!

All Stampin' Station products including Custom School Papers and Albums 15% OFF!

If you need any help locating these products in our store, be sure to ask.

Watch for more specials tomorrow!
